AN HONOR TO CALIFORNIA! AN honor to American literature! A book for the masses; everybody should have it, particularly every man of the Pacific Coast. It tells the merchant of the country and its products, and how business was conducted in early times. It tells the physician of medicine, the lawyer of courts and politics, the clergyman of religion, the mechanic of manufactures. It is the best of reading for the household, exceedingly interesting and instructive for young people. It is good for men of all classes, for it tells about life in its various phases and conditions. It is good for women, for it tells how women lived, and how they were treated in times gone by. It is of interest to the architect, for it tells and illustrates all about the architecture of a people, and notes for large cities, huge modern monuments and magnificent palaces. Lovers of art can here revel in the descriptions of the mysteries of the pen and brush, as "wielded by a people long since extinct." Modern musicians can study with delight the religious chants of these wonderful people. For the scholar we need not say that the work has never known an equal, as our own work would be tame compared to the highly dictioned letters which have been received from the most eminent men of letters in England and America.

In conclusion, all classes can find some portion of the work of particular interest to them, and taken as a whole it cannot be spared from the possession of any who care for a knowledge of the past history, present resources and future prospects of this great western coast—our adopted home.

Interesting in matter, standard in character, it is a literary monument that will forever reflect honorable credit to the coast, as through its pages the facts of the earliest and the entire length and breadth of the land that although we have wealth un-faded, we have those famous who have as President Gilman said, "that patient industry which is more precious still."

Change of Seasons and Why.

Heavy rain-storms are becoming frequent in sections wherein a few years ago they were unknown in the Summer months. The rains of July 6 this year in various parts of California were unprecedented. About July 18 a terrific rain and thunderstorm prevailed in Nevada, and thereupon the Reno Journal was moved to ask Professor Frank Stewart to give an opinion on his reasons for the unseasonable storm. Following is a part of the Professor's reply, which is quite interesting:

In all regions of the earth where rain-storms are frequent during the Summer months, earthquakes are rarely experienced, simply for the reason that the negative and positive electrical currents of the earth and air find constant equalization through the surrounding moisture. It must be borne in mind that the so-called positive and negative electrical fluids are constantly attracting each other, and that they instantly flash together and seek a standard of equilibrium through every possible means of conduction. For many years after the American settlement on this coast thunder-storms in California were almost unknown. There was no possible means of an equalization of the aerial and terrestrial electricities through the vaporous atmosphere, and when the clouds of Autumn did impinge upon the negatively-charged Sil-erras, violent earthquakes were sure to follow. As a palliative to those unvel-come disturbers, we are indebted to the Central Pacific and Union Pacific Railroad Companies, and also to the overland telegraph companies for the establishment of a permanent system of electrical equalizers. It only requires about the quarter of a second of time for electricity to travel from St.
Louis to San Francisco, and as iron is one of the best conductors for the sublimed fluids, we can readily perceive that continuous railway irons and unbroken telegraph wires are silently and constantly equalizing the electrical condition of both sides of the continent, and instead of producing violent earthquakes in isolated localities, the mysterious forces are now generating frightful thunder-storms all over the country. Long since I promulgated the theory that there is a current of electricity above the regions of clouds.
Professor Loomis fully demonstrated that such a current actually exists, and it is strange that meteorologists are so early in observing that every flash of lightning which descends from passing rain-clouds, is simply the positive electrical current of the air seeking the negatively charged earth. While it is reasonable to suppose that the iron tracks of the trans-continental railway, are constantly equalizing the electrical conditions of the country, and by that means are producing frightful thunder-storms in unexpected localities, there are substantial reasons for believing that these great iron conductors are causing positive climatic changes all over the continent. Already the United States Geological Surveyors have gravely called the attention of the government to the curious fact that, since the completion of the overland railway, rain-storms now occur in regions where it rarely rained before; new forms of vegetation are springing up in desert places, and that, in a broad belt of country on both sides of the road, the moisture is now so much more abundant than before that the Indians cannot dry their buff-lo meat in this curiously-affected zone.

Last Tuesday evening we had the first rain of any consequence that has fallen in Yuma this season, and it was no great shakes. It came with a tremendous black cloud accompanied with thunder and lightning and after making a great bluster rained pretty well for less than an hour and then quit. The rain was preceded by a very heavy sand-storm. The wind was terrible. We have heard of no damage done except the blowing down of a few signs and old fences.

Personally General Williamson is of commanding stature, sanguine-muscular temperament, and impresses the visitor as being a man of energy, sound judgment and decision of character and a genial disposition and courteous manners.—[Copp's Land Owner for July.

YUMA items from The Sentinel of August 5:

Steamship Newbern, Capt. Metzger, will sail from San Francisco August 12, for the mouth of the Colorado, via Mexican ports.

There is a great deal of feeling throughout the southern counties of the Territory in regard to the census of Yavapai county, which is believed to be grossly fraudulent. The returns give that county a population of 13,738; whereas, people in other counties who are well acquainted with and able to judge of the population of Yavapai, set it down as not exceeding 7000.

In many ways, Arizona gets attention nowadays. In Illinois, or certain portion of the State, societies are formed to give entertainments for public libraries. Major J. H. Stout's wife has recently participated in these entertainments in Pekin and Bloomington, and the following is an extract from a Bloomington paper:

Mrs. Georgia Stout then sang "Willie, Boy, Come Home," with an accent and tenderness so touching that her old friends rejoiced that her long sojourn in the far Arizona had not robbed her of her sweet and rare gift of song. Another ballad she sang during the evening, "O, Hush Thee, My Baby," showed that the cultivation of her voice received additional inspiration that only a mother can feel.

FROM San Francisco Bulletin, July 29: Articles of incorporation were filed to-day as follows: The Etta Mill and Mining Company, to work on the War Eagle ledge, Bradshaw District, Arizona, with $35,000 capital stock.
The Directors are H. H. Allen, Henry Sweetapple, George B. Gammons, George B. McNamery and William M.
Lent.

JULY 1, Cadet Edward E. Dravo was appointed second lieutenant and assigned to company I of the Sixth cavalry, vice Lieut. West promoted; and on the same day, Cadet James A. Hutton was appointed second lieutenant in company H, Eighth Infantry, vice Lieut.
Ray promoted.

THE Visalia Delta of July 30, says: The exodus toward Arizona still goes on. Quite a number of our settlers have left during the past week or two, and others are striking their tents and quietly dropping away. The character of the business of the county, and also the character of its population, is undergoing a rapid change.

A BROKER in New York stunned his antagonist with the following: "I'll b-bet you $500 that you and I can tell no more lies than any other two to-two men in this town, and I promise for my part no-no not to say a word."

WASHINGTON July 27.—The coinage of trade dollars has been stopped at Philadelphia and Carson. The mint at San Francisco is ordered to coin only sufficient to meet the actual export demand.

The New Commissioner of the General Land Office.

General J. A. Williamson, of Iowa, is now Commissioner of the General Land Office, and upon the appointment of a gentleman of his ability and experience the land service may be congratulated.

Commissioner Williamson was born in 1830 in Columbia, Ky., but his associations have always been with New England and Western people. He was educated at Knoxville, Illinois, and was admitted to the bar in 1853 in Iowa, where the greater portion of his life has been passed. He closely pursued the profession of law, declining political preferment, until 1861, when he answered his country's call for defenders by entering the 4th Iowa Volunteers as adjutant. He was made colonel of his regiment in 1862 for gallantry at the battle of Pea Ridge; and afterwards was promoted to Brigadier General, and brevetted Major General for gallant conduct and meritorious services. Except while suffering from wounds, he was with his command through the Vicksburg, Chattanooga and Atlanta campaigns, and with Sherman to the sea.

Since his retirement from the army he has given his attention mainly to business enterprises and land operations, in furtherance of which and to study the institutions of the old world, he has passed considerable time in Europe. He has a large capital invested in coal and iron property in Utah, which the financial condition of the day has rendered almost useless.

On the fall of Belknap, the legislature of Iowa strongly urged him as his successor; and as Secretary of War General Williamson would have retrieved the reputation of his State. In the late Congressional canvass, he failed by only three votes of securing the republican nomination in his district, now represented by his competitor, Mr. Kasson.

A pre-emptor himself, and for years legal adviser to land and mining claimants, he fully appreciates the wants of settlers, and the changed conditions of our public lands, especially in the Territories and Pacific States, which call so loudly for a new system of sale and disposal.

commanding stature, sanguine-mus-
and a genial disposition and court-
